Gentlemen:-

Your very pointed letter at hand. It is of very little moment whether we have any further communications or not. Your business will not suffer by my withdrawal and since I am a very small buyer I can easily be supplied by other dealers. I am frank in confessing that I made a mistake in withdrawing my bids. When once made I was in honor bound in letting them stand.

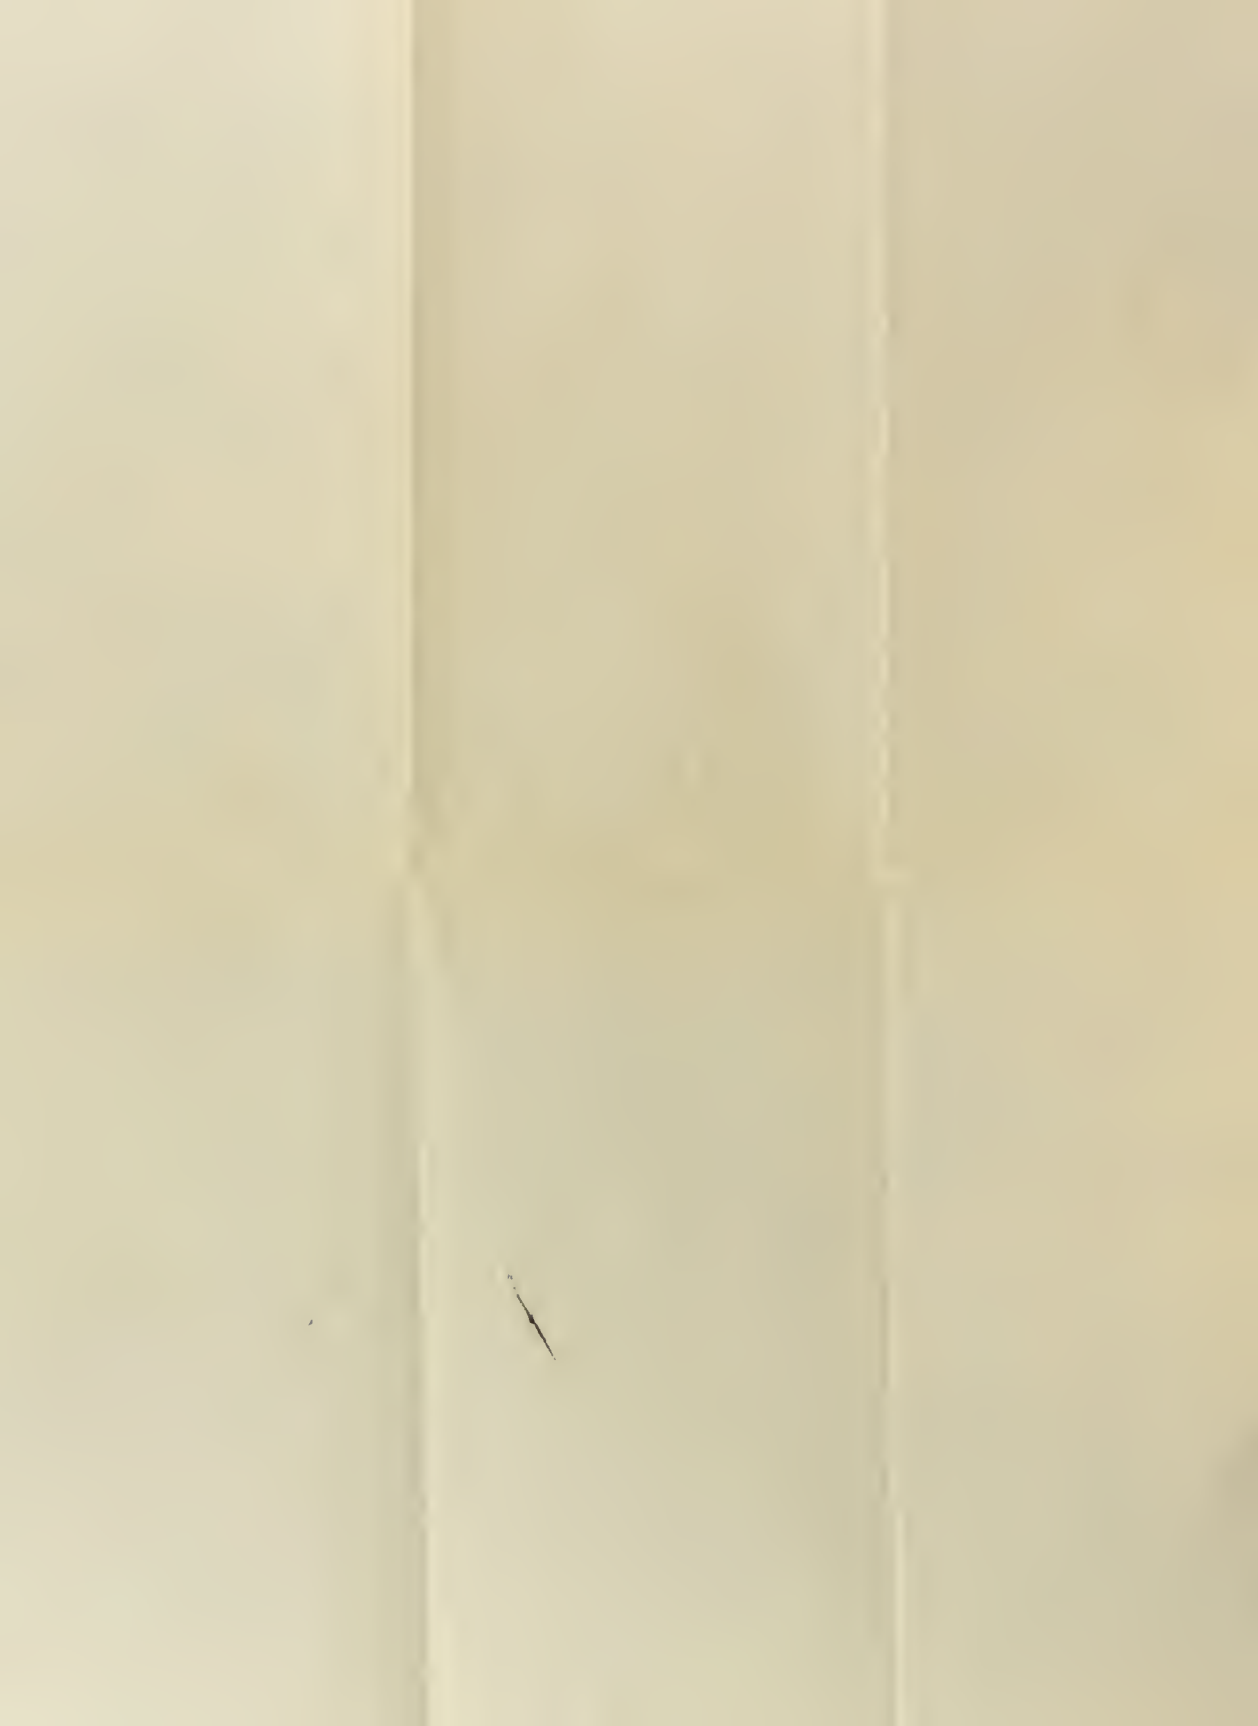

You say that I never bought but 14 Cts. worth of goods from you. In this you are mistaken. I never bought a cent's worth. The only time I ever had any dealings with you I asked you to quote me prices on some half cents. According to your own statement you failed to request aside and after some time sent me several coins on approval. Before I received them I had ordered the same from Wisengard & Son of Pittsburg. Your coins I returned and also sent you enough postage to replace all that you were out. This of course I was under no obligations to do because ~~you~~ you were negligent but all it that you might not lose anything on my account.

As to my dealings you can easily find out by inquiring of Herman H. Low of New York. He has had but few sales in the last three years that I have not been a bidder. I have also had dealings with many other dealers with the most pleasant results in every case.

What I have said is simply to set myself aright as far as it is possible. If you care to restore my name to your catalogue list all right and if you don't I will still close by wishing you success in all your undertakings and close this unfortunate affair by signing myself

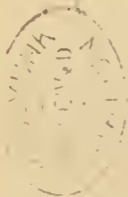

Yours respectfully,

James F. Hood.

Dear Sir:

Have you Doughty's "Cents of the United States", Frossard's "Monographs of U. S. Cents and Half Cents" or any other good work on U. S. cents? If so please inform me the price of same.

If you have nothing in stock will you please inform me how I may obtain something standard on the "cents" of our country?

Respectfully,
James F. Hood
